

Current Deviations to Standards – USDA 2021 annual report

UConn Health 16-R-0025

Deviation: Housing of rabbits outside thermoneutral zone (55° - 60°C)

Justification: Rabbits are used to propagate Treponema pallidum and the reduced temperature is required for the bacteria to grow in the rabbits.

Number of animals affected YR 2021: 25